

Schedule Document

Critical path: T1→T3→T7→T4→T6→T7

Actions taken to keep the sprint on schedule:

- Completed parallel tasks that do not require dependencies
- Regularly scheduled standups to ensure group members are aware of tasks and stay productive
- Broke stories down into smaller subtasks to ensure manageable and realistic workloads

Functionalities, such as making bookings from the listings page and viewing them, have been completed primarily. Additionally, more integration testing and previous sprint functionalities shifted over to Sprint 4 were refined to be more robust and effective, as well as the frontend being expanded to account for more functionality. In terms of features that have yet to be fully implemented, namely the personalized recommendations for users, the dependency on the profile customization task has hindered the process slightly (as seen in the Network Diagram). Due to this unforeseen delay, the profile customization functionality will be the next step in building the app for better user experience and to allow for the recommendation feature to be built properly.

Network Diagram for Sprint 4